Rangemaster continuously seeks improvements in specification, design and production of products and thus, alterations take place periodically. Whilst every effort is made to produce up-to-date literature, this brochure should not be regarded as an infallible guide to current specification, nor does it constitute an offer for the sale of any particular appliance.

Rangemaster's revolutionary new MySpa system transforms any kitchen tap into a filtered water dispenser, effortlessly delivering an endless supply of crystal clear filtered water without harming the environment.

Easy to install using push-fit connectors, MySpa consists of a simple 'on-off' diverter switch, which can be located in place of your sink's tap-hole stopper or in the worksurface. When the diverter is turned to 'on', the mains water will be redirected through a specialist filter cartridge located neatly under the sink, which removes all additives such as chlorine to create refreshing, clear water direct from your tap. Turn it back to 'off' and the water will return to the unfiltered mains supply for washing dishes etc.

While everyone knows that drinking clear, fresh water is an important part of achieving a healthy and balanced diet, bottled water has come under fire in recent years because of the environmental cost associated with manufacturing bottles, the transport required in delivery and the disposal of the empty bottles. It's also a costly option in terms of your weekly shopping bill.

Inexpensive to buy and maintain, MySpa converts any existing or new tap into a filtered water dispenser and the filter cartridges are incredibly easy to replace.

Although mains water is perfectly safe to drink, the chemicals used to make it that way can seriously affect the taste of your water. MySpa removes these impurities and sediments giving an improved taste to water, soft drinks, tea, coffee and even food. Offering tasty, eco-friendly and inexpensive drinking water, quite literally, 'on-tap', Rangemaster's MySpa filtered water dispenser is an ingenious solution to those seeking a healthier lifestyle.
